tonymacx86.com

I'm New To Everything, Where Do I Start?

Watch Thread

Jul 20, 2013 at 8:58 AM

tonymacx86
Administrator
Staff Member

I'm New To Everything, Where Do I Start?

First of all- congratulations! You're on your way to learning something new- always a challenge, but well worth the effort. Installing Mac OS X on generic PC hardware is not as hard as it used to be, however since there are so many methods, bootloaders, and guides out there it can be extremely confusing for the new user.
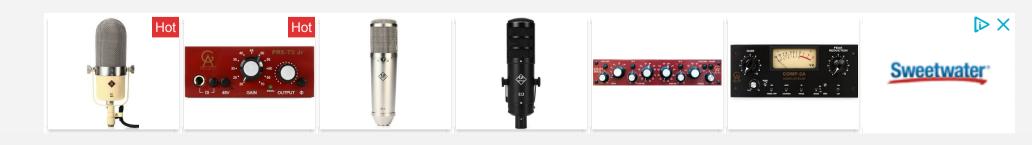

Here are a few things to start with.

1. Read our Rules thoroughly. Unlike most Internet communities our rules are strictly enforced. This is for everyone's benefit.

2. A good place to begin is the Simplest Mac OS X Installation Guide to familiarize yourself with a bird's eye view of the process. Afterward, check out our Installation > The Basics forum.

3. Read through the latest CustoMac Buyer's Guide for compatibility advice.

4. Use the Search- we've been around for years. Most likely your questions have already been answered.

5. Familiarize yourself with the forum by reading the Activity Stream.

6. Read through the CustoMac Glossary for detailed definitions of terms.

7. Learn how to post like a pro with the User's Guide for the WYSIWYG Editor.

You'll be a pro in no time. 🤑
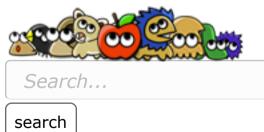

SKCro, deltaflux, luciano1964 and 83 others like this.

Like

(You have insufficient privileges to reply here.)

tonymacx86.com

Search...

search

Forum
The Build
Installation
Post Installation
The Workshop
The Tools
The Clubhouse
Infinite Loop
Laptops

Guides
Start Here!

10.14 Installation
10.13 Installation
10.12 Installation
10.11 Installation
10.10 Installation
10.9 Installation
10.8 Installation
10.7 Installation
10.6 Installation
Fix iMessage

Downloads
Downloads Index
DSDT
Kexts
NVIDIA Drivers
Community Software
Archive

+
Albums
Shop
CustoMac.com
MultiBeast.com
UniBeast.com

Home   Activity   Rules   Contact Us